City To Rid Itself Of Open Dump--Will Operate Sanitary Land-Fill

Sanitary Land Fill Set For Full Operation

The end of Westminster's use of an open dump for garbage disposal was assured by yesterday's announcement by Mayor Joseph L. Mathias that a sanitary landfill was now in partial use by the city.

In the announcement the mayor stated, "The Council and I have been working toward the elimination of the dump for a considerable period of time. We have conscientiously sought a usable area for the initiation of a sanitary landfill, but we were unsuccessful in locating a marginal tract suitable for the purpose within reasonable proximity to the city."

"Finally," the Mayor said, "we requested permission from the State Department of Health to use a part of the emergency lagoon at the city's sewage treatment plant for garbage disposal purposes. The use of this particular area heretofore had been impossible because of the necessity of maintaining an emergency facility immediately available during major maintenance or repairs at the treatment plant."

The status of the planning for the expansion of the sewage plant, which should preclude the necessity for having a lagoon area, made it possible to develop a sanitary landfill on this property."

The mayor noted the permit was received from the Health

NEW SANITARY LAND-FILL—A Westminister garbage truck dumps a load of trash and garbage in the new city sanitary-land-fill near the sewage treatment plant property southwest of Westminster. The new trench fill method of disposing of garbage is the sanitary method recommended by county and state health departments. Mayor Joseph L. Mathias said the new land-fill would be in full operation in two weeks. The old city dump will be covered over with dirt and cleaned up, the mayor said.

SUPERSTRUCTURE OF SYKESVILLE BRIDGE READY FOR CONSTRUCTION—The two piers and two abutments for the Sykesville by-pass bridge have been completed and work is expected to start soon on the superstructure. The by-pass bridge is on Route 32 over the South Branch of the Patuxent River and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in Carroll and Howard Counties. The State Roads Commission points out that the bridge when completed will be the first aluminum bridge of its kind in Maryland.

Highway Jobs Readied For Construction

Spring weather has signaled the resumption of Maryland's heavy program of roadbuilding in Carroll County and nearby Frederick and Howard Counties.

Before the present construction season is over, contracts totalling some $7.8 million will be activated in the State Roads engineering District 7 comprised of the three counties.

This is all part of Gov. J. Millard Tawes' 5-year "Go Roads" program on the State Highway System.

Contracts either underway or scheduled to be activated this spring and summer are:

- Grading, drainage and surfacing of Route 26 from Winfield to Eldersburg.

- Sykesville By-Pass bridge Route 32 over the south branch of the Patuxent River and the B & O Railroad. This is an aluminum bridge, the first of its kind in Maryland.

- Sykesville By-Pass roadway in Carroll and Howard Counties.

- Maryland 31 from New Windsor easterly for 3.2 miles.

- Maryland 97 from Boops Mill to Richardson Road.

Director of Highways John B. Funk pointed out that completion of work on Route 32 from Winfield to Eldersburg will give Marylanders a good road from Baltimore to Frederick.

Westminster Water Supply Safe Regardless Of Taste And Color

Difficulties existing currently with the Westminster water supply as to taste and odor have no connection with the safety of the water, Charles Kenealy, chief engineer and sanitarian, County Health Department, emphasized yesterday.

Mr. Kenealy met last week with the Board of Directors of the Westminster Chamber of Commerce and representatives of the Public Service Commission and Maryland Health Department to discuss complaints by residents of the taste and odor of the water supply.

The chamber was informed that following a series of complaints during the summer of 1961, an investigation was conducted by the Public Service Commission, the state and county Health Departments and the Water Pollution Control Commission.

Kenealy said the investigation revealed a portion of the taste and odor in the water supply was caused by leakage of wastes from a lagoon located on the watershed.

This situation resulted in some repairs being made to the lagoon and in an agreement between the Maryland Water Works Commission and the official agencies involved that would prevent use of Hull Branch at such times as wastes were being drained or discharged into the stream.

To this date no further difficulty has resulted from this.

Carbon Feeder Installed

As is true in any surface stream used as a source of water supply, taste and odors sometimes develop from natural causes in Hull Branch and in Cranberry Branch, which is the main source of water for Westminster.

To remove these tastes and odors, the Water Company installed an activated carbon feeder in July 1960. With the use of this feeder and with the control measures instituted following the discharge of material from the lagoon last summer, there were no significant complaints of objectionable taste and odor in the water until February of this year.

April Designated As Teaching Career Month In Carroll County

The United States needs an additional quarter of a million properly- and professionally prepared teachers to enable our educational system to insure a proper education for all our citizens, according to Kenneth Mussari, President of the Carroll County Teachers Association.

"Although teaching is already the largest of all professions in the United States, employing some 2,125,000 persons, there is a definite need for another 240,000 teachers to replace those leaving service, to serve increasing enrollments, to relieve overcrowding, to eliminate part-time sessions, to give instruction and services not now provided, and to replace the unprepared," he continued.

"Because April is being observed as Teaching Career Month in Carroll County and across the nation, this is a good time to review our own situation with regard to teacher supply and demand," Mussari said.

"The pressing need for teachers has come about because of the continuous high birth rates since the 1940's, the introduction of public school programs for the mentally and physically handicapped, the strengthening of special services, in the public schools, a lowering of the high-school dropout rate, and an increasing awareness by high-school graduates that they need additional education to compete successfully in today's complicated world."

April marks the fifth observance of Teaching Career Month which was inaugurated by The National Education Association to call public attention to the necessity for getting and keeping the best possible teachers for our nation's schools and colleges.

- To improve our nation's schools by providing increasing numbers of fine teachers;

- To encourage larger numbers of qualified young people to consider teaching as a career;

- To influence the most competent teachers to remain in the profession;
- To inspire teachers to speak up for their profession and encourage others to consider teaching as a career;
- To inform parents and the general public of the opportunities and rewards the teaching profession offers today's youth; and

- To show that for our nation's survival, teaching must be the preeminent profession in American life.

Symington Hits Administration's Proposal For Space Exploration Cooperation With Soviet Union

Another Yalta—this time perpetrated in space—was foreseen today by Fife Symington, Republican candidate for Congress from Baltimore, Carroll and Harford Counties, in the new Democratic Administration commits the United States to "cooperation" with the Russians in the unknown areas of the Cosmos.

"Why," said Mr. Symington, "give the Russians any further boosters for their military intelligence on our technical achievements in space now or in the future?"

"What can the United States possibly gain from the kind of cooperation the Russians understand. We know that for years they have played us for international suckers when it comes to mutual cooperation on any matter of basic importance to Russian imperialism."

"Undoubtedly, if they suggest cooperation history proves it is a sign of their weakness—there is something they feel we have and they need it but their spy network has failed them."

"So what happens, the Russians lure our unsophisticated invasion looks like a game of cops and robbers by comparison. After all what, for instance, has the International Civil Aviation Organization secured in the way of cooperation from the Russians over the past 47 years?"

"I have had considerable personal experience in this field and I can answer that while refusing to join and help pay the bill they have cooperated by sending technical observers to every conference to milk every possible secret of the advanced Western world's air line technique from us for the benefit of the Russians in space. When elected to the Congress I will fight for these American principles," Symington concluded.

Hampstead Lions Host To Farmers

At the regular meeting of the Hampstead Lions Club March 27, the club had as its guests the farmers of the community. This is an annual affair with the club.

The speaker of the evening was A. B. Hamilton of the University of Maryland. Mr. Hamilton spoke on "Wills."

He explained about 70 per cent of the people have no will when they die, makes it very hard for the survivors. For instance, Maryland law states that all children benefit equally when there has been no will made. He suggested to the members and their guests that a thorough study be made to make sure that property and assets are made out in proper fashion before it is too late.

Mr. Hamilton was introduced by the Carroll County Agent Landon C. Burns, who was introduced by Lion Franklin Hale, who was in charge of the program.

In attendance were 32 guests to the club and also visitors from the Union Bridge Lions.

In order to determine whether or not these recent complaints are caused by some condition in Cranberry Branch, which is the only water source presently in use, or if the taste and odor are developing in the distribution system, the Health Department is instituting a special sampling study. These samples will be in addition to the samples which are routinely picked up from the Westminster water supply system.

The county sanitarian pointed out that the water company would be informed of the results of the special sampling study and would recommend improvements or modifications in treatment if found necessary.

Sunday School Lesson

By Mary Lella Sanders

TOWARD A MATURE FAITH
SCRIPTURE: If Timothy Faith is a gift of God. It is based on facts and not on man's feelings or moods. Martin Luther once said that the devil asked if he felt that his sins were forgiven. "No," replied the great reformer. "I feel that they are forgiven, but I know that they are because God's Word says so." Paul did not say, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved." He said, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved." If we follow the Bible's instructions, then assurance comes later. This is the assurance that Paul spoke of to Timothy: "For I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day." (1 Tim. 1:12)

Westminster Presbyterian
Morning Worship will be conducted Sunday at 10:45 a.m. The Rev. John W. Thomson will preach the sermon entitled, "Finding Forgiveness." The Nursery will be operating at this same hour for younger children.

The Rev. Paul Harbaugh will speak on "Christian Stewardship" at the 10:45 a.m. service Sunday. At the 7:45 p.m. service Rev. Harbaugh will speak on "Christian Liberty" from Gal. 5:1-12. Pastor Harbaugh says concerning this passage, "When a man receives Jesus Christ by faith as his personal savior, God does a wonderful, supernatural work in his heart. So a man is transformed and becomes a new creation (2 Cor. 5:17). The Word of God goes on to say that old things pass away and all things become new for that individual. This is the result of God changing the heart in a supernatural way when one receives Jesus Christ."

Religious Calendar

By Rev. C. G. Murdian

(Pastor, Windsor Methodist Church)

A holiday called the Feast of Fools, which falls on March 11, has been observed in the Church of India for many centuries. "April Fool" day as people in India try to send each other on absurd errands. All Fools' Day was given religious significance by the editor of the London Publicist. On March 13, 1769, where it was claimed that April 1, corresponds with the first day of the Jewish month on which Moses mistakenly sent out the dove from the ark to find out if the waters had gone down. (See Genesis 8:9-12) When the dove came back without having found dry land, Noah became the first victim of "April Fool." The Roman holiday Saturnalia, compares with April Fool, but Saturnalia was in December.

The origin of April Fool is traced to France where jokers were continued to make New Year's jokes on the first day of the year in which the New Year was changed from March 25 to Jan. 1 by the adoption of the Gregorian Calendar. April 1 is also "Hebrew University Day." After the first church among the Jews sought to standardize the diverse customs brought in by Jews coming from many lands, the Hebrew tongue was to become a common bond among them. Eventually the Hebrew language was adopted as the language of the Jews and today is an important institution of higher learning.

CHRIST IS THE ANSWER

TRUST IN GOD AND HAVE NO FEAR

He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty. I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and fortress: my God: in Him will I trust. Surely he shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler, and from the noisome pestilence. He shall cover thee with His feathers and under His wings shalt thou trust: his truth shall be thy shield and buckler. Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night; nor for the arrow that flieth by day. Nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness; nor for the destruction that wasteth at noonday. A thousand shall fall at thy side and ten thousand at thy right hand; but it shall not come nigh thee.

ABILITY, NOT AGE, COUNTS!

Recently, Gov. J. Millard Tawes proclaimed the month of March as "Forty-Plus Employment Month" and encouraged Carroll County and Maryland employers to hire workers based on experience and ability and not on age.

Like its counterpart, the Employ The Physically Handicapped program, "Forty-Plus Employment" should be a year-round program.

Employers in Carroll County are just as guilty as employers in the other 22 counties of Maryland and the 49 states of the nation in "putting out to pasture men past because they are too old."

On the other hand those who hire workers out of high school because "they have no experience." And that is today's industrial paradox—"They are too old, yet experienced" and "They are too young, they have no experience."

In a first rate study just published by the industrial relations division of the National Association of Manufacturers, the organization explodes a few myths surrounding the desirability of hiring mature workers.

For example, myth one: "I can't take a chance on an older worker—he's liable to be absent too often."

And this is fact: Such fears are groundless. As a group, older workers are absent fewer times each year than younger counterparts.

Myth Two: "I'm afraid for the safety of the older worker. He's more accident-prone."

Fact: All available research shows the older worker to be generally more safety-conscious, less accident-prone.

Myth Three: "I have to keep production at a high level. An older worker might not keep up with the rest."

Fact: If there is any difference in the rate of production of an older worker, it does not show until after 55. Even then it is an individual factor.

Myth Four: "I need versatility. Too many older workers are set in their ways."

Fact: Some older workers are inclined to be inflexible; so are some younger workers. The important consideration is the individual's outlook—his "functional age."

And what we would like to know is since when did a few gray hairs or a bald spot drop creativity—and production?

Let us act our age when it comes to giving mature job applicants a "fair shake" and let's base their employment on ability and experience, not age or physical handicap.

SETTLEMENT OF STEEL STRIKE GOOD NEWS

Settlement of the steel strike has been hailed as the best piece of news in the United States this year. And justly so.

The agreement thus averts a damaging strike, that could have crippled the American economy, which is trying to climb out of a recession.

The Kennedy administration is pleased with the settlement, because the evidence shows that it is non-inflationary. The administration believes the cost can be absorbed by the steel companies and will not lead to a price boom.

The agreement between management and labor is to the credit of President Kennedy. The chief executive had urged the unions and management to "reach an early settlement consistent with price stability" and that is what the president received.

If the strike had not been settled when it was, it could have been a damaging blow to the president's prestige. As it stands now, the administration's triumph is the people's triumph.

Steel experts estimate the new settlement will add slightly less than three per cent to steel industry wages costs, which makes it the cheapest of all recent steel settlements.

During the past three decades, a one-time obedient servant of the American people, the federal government, has grown into a giant. This monster is fast becoming the master of its creators and whether we admit it or not, it was created through our own selfishness, greed, and ignorance. Like the tentacles of a giant octopus, bureaus, departments, agencies and commissions are slowly but surely imprisoning the American people.

The conflict between freedom and communism is the problem of our time. It overshadows all other problems, this conflict mirrors our age, its tolls, its tension, its troubles, and its tasks. On the outcome of this conflict depends the future of mankind.

WAGGON ALONG
WHEE MOOSHIAN

REAPPORTMENTMENT

In a landmark decision last week, the United States Supreme Court ruled 6 to 2 that federal courts may intervene to force reluctant state legislatures to apportion fairly.

For the past decade or more city dwellers have felt that state legislatures were gerrymandered to favor rural areas. And since seven of nine states have more than 50 per cent of their population in cities or towns, the urbanites complained of discrimination.

The Supreme Court says a taxpayer in Tennessee may sue to require the Legislature to give him fair representation. The problem remains, however, how to get the state legislature to act without going over its head. If that happens, then the states will lose control over the cities, thus ending the U. S. system of federal-state government. (See TIMES "Wagon Along" column "Are States Necessary?" June 15 and 22, 1961.)

RURAL VERSUS URBAN

Any thinking person with perspective can get a glimpse of what is happening. If the flight from farm to city continues to accelerate, within a very few years most of the urban metropolises will join together in a great mass along the sea coast; a 200-mile long unbroken strip from Boston to Washington; another along the Florida Coast from Jacksonville to the Keys; a San Diego-San Francisco strip on the West Coast; and a Milwaukee-Chicago-Gary, Ind., corridor looping around Lake Michigan.

These cities and metropolitan areas will ultimately have control over state government and reduce to minority status the power of rural areas which have long dominated practically all legislatures from coast to coast.

The Supreme Court's decision on reapportionment does not involve the emotional and racial overtones that accompanied school desegregation, yet the principle is the same. State legislatures are being asked to yield up their power. And since 70 per cent of the American population now lives in urban areas, the court's decision could, in time, produce a radical reorientation of political power.

All I can say is the God that dares to stand up and be counted against such evils as communism, government corruption, welfare state, United Nations, socialism, etc.

I wonder how your critics, who agree with the present trend toward the welfare state, men in the House of Representatives, would government and government controls, are going to criticize the Daughters of the American Revolution? For if they take on that noble organization, they also take on the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and other related American organizations.

Your articles on the history of the Daughters of the American Revolution were definitely not "useless" as we note that the DAR is currently opposing the "United Nations" and the efforts of UNESCO to influence American education.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall's editorial in the "Liberal Papers" was an eye-opener. I cannot imagine any American having a part in such a document. It is utterly fantastic. But there it is in black and white in the Carroll County Times and written by an outstanding statesman and American.

Keep on giving us the facts and thank you.

TO THE EDITOR:

Your front page of March 29 had a lot of choice news items but none hit me so well as the article on the story on the Daughters of the American Revolution, wherein they passed resolutions against un-Americanism and communism.

All I can say is the God that dares to stand up and be counted against such evils as communism, government corruption, welfare state, United Nations, socialism, etc.

I wonder how your critics, who agree with the present trend toward the welfare state, men in the House of Representatives, would government and government controls, are going to criticize the Daughters of the American Revolution? For if they take on that noble organization, they also take on the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and other related American organizations.

Conservative, Anti-Communist Groups Coordinate Activities

To coordinate the activities of other, let alone conservatives in conservative, anti-communist groups in the United States, regular quarterly meetings will be conducted in Washington beginning in June.

The Rev. Billy J. Hargis, Tulsa, Okla., founder of the Christian Crusade, explained the quarterly meeting was one of the agreements reached at a recent meeting held in Washington in June. Each invited group will select a man to sit on a steering committee, to be chaired by Hargis, and a prominent writer and lecturer.

Hunter's first assignment will be to determine which "freedom of information" laws, such as anti-Semiteism, would not be welcome.

But then isn't the present administration dealing with the enemy by inviting the Russians to come and inspect Cape Canaveral and other heretofore "secret" places. The general American public have never been invited to visit Cape Canaveral but the enemy gets a special invitation. To me this doesn't make much sense.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall's editorial in the "Liberal Papers" was timely and to the point. It certainly points out that we have many liberal papers in our nation who would turn our country over to the communists.

In a recent review of the book, "The Liberal Papers," noted that the book advocates having the United States assist in the overthrow of the world plan of enslaving the world.

The book not only advocates the abandonment of our military forces so that we could no longer defend ourselves from the Soviet Union but it also poses that American tax dollars be used to assist the communists in achieving their goals.

The "Liberal Papers" actually proposes that we deliberately betray the trust of many millions of freedom-loving people who depend upon the United States for their defense.

Public Relations Chairman Blair Lottig of the American Legion, C. C. Teachers Association

TO THE EDITOR:

Since too many liberals try to link the Communist Party with the John Birch Society because they both "are secret, totalitarian and pursue a highly developed program," let me make these comments.

The Communist Party of the United States has been found to be an agent of a foreign power, which is a malcontent enemy of the United States.

This finding is based upon a colossal mass of factual evidence accumulated over a long period of years. The finding has been made by various competent and qualified authorities including, among others, the FBI, Congress and the Supreme Court.

Do these liberals know of any comparable factual evidence indicating that the John Birch Society is or ever has been an agent of an enemy power?

The writer of this letter is not, and never has been, a member of the John Birch Society or affiliated with it in any way. He does not have any plans for joining it.

But he is a member of what these liberals call "The Right," and the purpose of this letter is to suggest that the next time writers in metropolitan papers feel inspired to compose another variation on the "left and right" theme, they turn their attention to a verse in the Bible.

This verse reads: "A wise man's heart inclines him to the right, a fool's heart toward the left." It is to be found in the Book of Ecclesiastes, chapter 10, verse 2.

The foregoing quotation of it from the Revised Standard Version—a modern edition which is the product of recent and thorough biblical research and scholarship.

ABILITY, NOT AGE, COUNTS!

Recently, Gov. J. Millard Tawes proclaimed the month of March as "Forty-Plus Employment Month" and encouraged Carroll County and Maryland employers to hire workers based on experience and ability and not on age.

Like its counterpart, the Employ The Physically Handicapped program, "Forty-Plus Employment" should be a year-round program.

Employers in Carroll County are just as guilty as employers in the other 22 counties of Maryland and the 49 states of the nation in "putting out to pasture" men past 40 because they are too old.

On the other hand they do not hire workers out of high school because "they have no experience." And, that is today's industrial paradox—"They are too old, yet experienced" and "They are too young, they have no experience."

In a first rate study just published by the industrial relations division of the National Association of Manufacturers, the organization explodes a few myths surrounding the desirability of hiring mature workers.

For example, myth one: "I can't take a chance on an older worker—he's liable to be absent too often."

And this is fact: Such fears are groundless. As a group, older workers are absent fewer times each year than younger counterparts.

Myth Two: "I'm afraid for the safety of the older worker. He's more accident-prone."

Fact: All available research shows the older worker tends to be generally more safety-conscious, less accident-prone.

Myth Three: "I have to keep production at a high level. An older worker might not keep up with the rest."

Fact: If there is any difference in the rate of production of an older worker, it does not show until after 55. Even then it is an individual factor.

Myth Four: "I need versatility. Too many older workers are set in their ways."

Fact: Some older workers are inclined to be inflexible; so are some younger workers. The important consideration is the individual's outlook—his "functional age."

And what we would like to know is since when did a few gray hairs or a bald spot cut down creativity—and production?

Let us act our age when it comes to giving mature job applicants "a fair shake" and let's base their employment on ability and experience, not age or physical handicap.

SETTLEMENT OF STEEL STRIKE GOOD NEWS

Settlement of the steel strike has been hailed as the best piece of news in the United States this year. And justly so.

The agreement thus averts a damaging strike, that could have crippled the American economy, which is trying to climb out of a recession.

The Kennedy administration is pleased with the settlement, because the evidence shows that it is non-inflationary. The administration believes the cost can be absorbed by the steel companies and will not lead to a price boost.

The agreement between management and labor is to the credit of President Kennedy. The chief executive urged the unions and management to "reach an early settlement consistent with price stability" and that is what the president received.

If the strike had been settled when it was, it could have been a damaging blow to the president's prestige. As it stands now, the administration's triumph is the people's triumph.

Steel experts estimate the new settlement will add slightly less than three percent to steel industry wage costs, which makes it the cheapest of all recent steel settlements.

During the past three decades, a one-time obedient servant of the American people, the federal government, has grown into a giant. This monster is fast becoming the master of the country, and whether we admit it or not, it was created through our own selfishness, greed, and ignorance. Like the tentacles of a giant octopus, bureaus, departments, agencies and commissions are slowly but surely imprisoning the American people.

The conflict between freedom and communism is the problem of our time. It overshadows all other problems, this conflict mirrors our age, its tolls, its tension, its troubles, and its tasks. On the outcome of this conflict depends the future of mankind.

WAGGON ALONG

MOOSHIAN

REAPPORTIONMENT

In a landmark decision last week, the United States Supreme Court ruled 6 to 2 that federal courts may intervene to force reluctant state legislatures to apportion fairly.

For the past decade or more state legislatures have felt that state legislatures were gerrymandered to favor rural areas, and since seven out of every ten Americans live in cities or towns, the urbanites complain of discrimination.

The Supreme Court says a taxpayer in Tennessee may sue to require the Legislature to give him fair representation. The problem remains, however, how to get the state legislature to act without going over its head.

If that day comes, then the states will lose control over the U. S. system of federal-state government. (See TIMES "Wagon Along" column "Are States Necessary?" June 15 and 22, 1961.)

RURAL VERSUS URBAN

Any thinking person with perspective can get a glimpse of what is happening. If from farm to city continues to accelerate, within a very few years most of the urban metropolises will join together in a great mosaic. In the sea coast, a 600-mile long unbroken strip from Boston to Washington; another along the Florida Coast, Jacksonville to the Keys; a San Diego-San Francisco strip in the West Coast; and a "Milkshake-Chicago-Gary, Ind., metropolitan loop" around Lake Michigan.

These cities and metropolitan areas will ultimately be controlled over state governments, and reduce to minority status the long dominated rural areas which all legislatures from coast to coast.

The Supreme Court's decision on reapportionment does not involve the emotional and racial overtones that accompanied school desegregation, yet the principle is the same: State legislatures are being asked to yield up their power. And since 70 per cent of the American population now lives in urban areas, the court's decision would, in time, produce a radical reorientation of political power.

STATE ISSUE

Since state legislatures also draw the lines for Congressional districts, the city dwellers argue that farm-based law makers have drawn the districts in such a way that they tend toward the welfare state, world government and government controls, are going to criticize the Daughters of the American Revolution? For if the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and other related American organizations, which have been made by various competent and qualified authorities, including, among others, the FBI Congress and the Supreme Court.

Do these liberals know of any comparable factual evidence indicating that the John Birch Society is or ever has been an agent of an enemy foreign power?

The writer of this letter is not, and never has been, a member of the John Birch Society or affiliated with it in any way. He does not have any plans for joining it.

But he is a member of what the liberals call "the right." The purpose of this letter is to suggest that the next time writers in metropolitan papers grade the efforts of those men who fought and died in the defense of this nation even though the American armed forces protected the authors from aggression by Hitler and the enemy.

I am ashamed to have to admit that such people could be high office holders by election or appointment. This nation, like all others, has had its share of those who would deal with the enemy.

But isn't the present administration dealing with the enemy by inviting the Russians to come and inspect Cape Canaveral and other heretofore "top secret" places. The general American public have never had permission to visit Cape Canaveral but the enemy gets a special invitation. To me this doesn't make much sense.

If the authors of "The Liberal Papers" really believe what they have written, then they must list them along with that general of ill repute who commanded the bastion at West Point during the Revolutionary War, Gen. Benedict Arnold.

And worse yet we have an editorial added to the Sun, which we think we have seen some unfair decisions rendered by the high court, wait for future decisions, especially those written by "Whizzer" White.

Your front page of March 30 had a lot of choice news items but none hit me so well and to the point as the story on the Daughters of the American Revolution, wherein they passed new resolutions against un-Americanism and communism.

All I can say is God bless such organizations as the DAR, that dares to stand up and be counted against such evils as communism, government controls, welfare state, United Nations, socialism, etc.

Some of our critics, who agree with the president, trend toward the welfare state, world government and government controls, are going to criticize the Daughters of the American Revolution? For if the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and other related American organizations, which have been made by various competent and qualified authorities, including, among others, the FBI Congress and the Supreme Court.

Do these liberals know of any comparable factual evidence indicating that the John Birch Society is or ever has been an agent of an enemy foreign power?

The writer of this letter is not, and never has been, a member of the John Birch Society or affiliated with it in any way. He does not have any plans for joining it.

But he is a member of what the liberals call "the right." The purpose of this letter is to suggest that the next time writers in metropolitan papers grade the efforts of those men who fought and died in the defense of this nation even though the American armed forces protected the authors from aggression by Hitler and the enemy.

I am ashamed to have to admit that such people could be high office holders by election or appointment. This nation, like all others, has had its share of those who would deal with the enemy.

But isn't the present administration dealing with the enemy by inviting the Russians to come and inspect Cape Canaveral and other heretofore "top secret" places. The general American public have never had permission to visit Cape Canaveral but the enemy gets a special invitation. To me this doesn't make much sense.

If the authors of "The Liberal Papers" really believe what they have written, then they must list them along with that general of ill repute who commanded the bastion at West Point during the Revolutionary War, Gen. Benedict Arnold.

And worse yet we have an editorial added to the Sun, which we think we have seen some unfair decisions rendered by the high court, wait for future decisions, especially those written by "Whizzer" White.

USE DORMANT SPRAYS NOW

With Spring just around the corner, trees and shrubs will be sprouting a new crop of leaves and flowers, but a new crop of insect pests will appear to mar their beauty and usefulness.

Now is the time to start the annual battle against these pests. There is still time to apply a dormant spray while the trees and shrubs are in their winter sleep.

The dormant spray will kill aphids and mites that are in the bark. These bugs are leaving too, but they will be hatching before you know it. Apply dormant sprays in the morning and when the weather is clear. It will not freeze within the next 24 hours. There must be no green showing in the buds.

It is possible to see scale insects and white. Eucalyptus scale and white peach scale on flowering cherry are quite common. Others less easily recognized are obscure scale on oak and pitomac scale on holly. Aphid eggs and mite eggs are hard to see without a magnifying glass.

There are four different kinds of dormant spray to be used at this time of the year. Unfortunately, no one spray will take care of all situations. Dormant spray oil is used on holly, Eucalyptus and oak for scale insects. It is a refined lubricating oil, often called Superior dormant spray oil. Dilute with water to two or three parts strength. There are some plants, such as Japanese maple and pine that oil will injure.

Liquid lime sulfur is used on peach for San Jose scale and peach leaf curl; on white pine for needle scale and on silver maple for bladder gall mite which makes red galls on the leaves in the spring. Lime sulfur will stain buildings—use cautiously.

Dinoseb for oyster-shell scale on lilac, poplar and willow is also used with dormant oil for aphids and scale on apple and is quite important for apple growers. A dormant spray of DDT for American elm is used to kill the bark beetles which spread Dutch elm disease.

Where large trees, such as oaks and elms are involved, a professional tree service must be engaged. Such services have the power tools that will do the work satisfactorily, just as apple growers use big machines in their orchards.

The following publications are available from your County Extension Agent, or by writing to Extension Service, Mail Room, University of Maryland, College Park, Md.: "Dormant Sprays for Insects on Ornamental Plants and Fruits"; Extension Bulletin No. 108, "Controlling Insects of Ornamental Trees and Shrubs"; Extension Bulletin No. 125, "Sprays for Home Fruit Planting"; Fact Sheet No. 138, "Dutch Elm Disease."

FARM BUREAU HOLDS POLICY MEETING

On March 26 the Carroll County Farm Bureau held their quarterly meeting with over two hundred good Carroll County farmers participating. This meeting, for the most part, dealt with problems of farm policy and the proposals the government may have for solving some of the ills now confronting the dairy industry.

Most farmers were of the opinion that it is good to hear both sides of this question, since the enactment of any form of legislation will affect so many people. At this meeting, a representative of the national organization discussed the present proposal very simply so that all dairymen should understand.

A few weeks ago, a group of farmers assembled at the same place and at the same time to elect a representative of the Federal Government to discuss the same problems. Farmers of Carroll County therefore are meeting both sides of the question so that when the time comes, they will be better equipped to make an intelligent decision. At the present time, therefore, dairy farmers of this area are making a thorough study of all the evidence against the day when they may be called in to vote in a referendum to decide the future course of the industry.

My personal observation, through many years of experience working with the farmers of this great country is that they are making a thorough study of all the evidence against the day when they may be called in to vote in a referendum to decide the future course of the industry.

The organization urges all farmers to make an intelligent decision. At the present time, therefore, dairy farmers of this area are making a thorough study of all the evidence against the day when they may be called in to vote in a referendum to decide the future course of the industry.

Physical Fitness—2:

Ballet Valuable In Physical Exercise

by MRS. EDWARD KEYSER

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the 2nd of eight articles by Mrs. Keyser, Hampstead, Md., taken from physical fitness to heart and has written these articles on a subject she knows well. Follow her articles each week in the Carroll County Times.

Everything in life has a price tag.

Are we paying the price of progress? With so many conveniences and leisure time activities, we neglect exercise. But what value is exercise? Hippocrates said, "That which is used develops and that which is not used wastes away." Think of the fields when cultivated.

Our bodies need the stimulation of exercise. The activity is good for our lungs and circulation. It keeps healthy hearts healthy. It tends to lessen states of tension and fatigue. Ballet dancing is an excellent form of exercise. Did you know that some of our finest dancers began studying ballet because of handicaps? Alicia and she lay in bed for a year. The year over, she restored her flabby muscles by doing ballet.

When children are exercising in a ballet class, they are learning to use their muscles. But they are also learning to work cooperatively together. They learn to organize their thinking on a given idea. The students have greater pride in how they sit, stand and move. They learn to use their bodies in dancing in poems and stories.

Exercise is essential for singers. Some singers can't really sing because they are so tense. Dancing relaxes them. It is just as important for a singer as for a dancer to have good posture. The first condition for singing is poise and the first condition of poise is dancing.
